BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION IN RUMFORD.

Dedication of New Church A Prominent Feature.

A Large Delegation Present From Different Maine Churches.

The present week is one that will be remembered by the Baptists of this town for two important events in the history of the society take place, namely, the dedication of the beautiful new church and the entertaining of the members of the State convention. The exercises commenced Tuesday afternoon and will continue until this evening. One of the principle services of the week was the one Tuesday evening when the formal dedication took place. The service was opened with an organ prelude by Prof. Young of Bates who is organist during the convention. Among those who took part in the service were Revs. A. B. Crane, H. A. Martin, M. S. Howes, B. F. Turner and J. D. Graham while the dedicatory sermon was preached by Rev. O. P. Gifford of Brookline, Mass. Miss Agnes Russell of Portland rendered a fine sacred solo and excellent chorus singing was furnished by the united choir.

All of the services have been most interesting and largely attended there being about 300 delegates from out of town. The meetings are all open to the public and much good is being derived from them. BOARD OF TRADE BANQUETS AT Hotel Rumford. Informal Reception To James W. Harris.

Hon. Hugh J. Chisholm A Guest.

At Hotel Rumford on Friday evening about seventy members of the Rumford Board of Trade together with a few invited guests assembled to informally meet and welcome to the town, Mr. James W. Harris the new General Manager of the Oxford Paper Co. of Rumford. At about 8:30 a receiving line was formed in the parlor and Mr. Harris was introduced to the members which comprised many of the leading business men of the town. Among those in the receiving line were Hon. Hugh J. Chisholm, Hon. Walter Pettengill, Judge A. E. Stearns, Col. Geo. L. Blaine, J. H. Hackett, John Stephens and Theodore Hawley.

After a few minutes of social chat the doors of the dining room were opened and the company was served with a banquet which has never been excelled in this town. The tables were arranged in banquet style and presented a most inviting appearance. The dining room was in charge of a corps of very efficient waitresses and the service given was all that could be wished for. Following is the menu:

Mock turtle soup
Olives Celery Sliced tomatoes
Boiled salmon, egg sauce
Julienne potatoes
Native roast chicken, cranberry sauce
Mashed potatoes Onions Squash
Sliced tomato pickle
Scalloped oysters
Lobster salad, Mayonnaise dressing
Caramel ice cream Assorted cake
Fruit
Black coffee.

During the banquet Dr. Briggs' orchestra of five pieces was stationed at the entrance of the dining hall and rendered a fine musical program.

After the dinner had been satisfied and before the speaking, the secretary arose and read the names of several gentlemen who desired to become members of the Board of Trade. These names were voted upon after which P. O. Eaton in a few preliminary remarks introduced Hon. Walter Pettengill as toastmaster for the evening.

Mr. Pettengill said that he would gladly call upon one who had been acquainted with the town since its infancy and although he had at one time left to make his home elsewhere, had returned to be once more a citizen. He then introduced Judge A. E. Stearns.

In his remarks Mr. Stearns spoke principally of the growth and development of Rumford. He said that at first though he was not one of the first to settle here at the starting of the town, he came soon after operations had commenced.

HUGH J. CHISHOLM ADDRESS BUSINESS MEN.

At the parlor of Hotel Rumford last Saturday forenoon Hon. Hugh J. Chisholm of New York addressed nearly 100 of the business men of Rumford in regard to the present labor troubles in the mills of the International Paper Co. He said that the mills would never be opened to be controlled by any one labor union. "A workman will be free to belong to any or no union," said Mr. Chisholm "and every man who wants to go back to work will be protected, not only at his work, but at his home, and on the streets as well."

The speaker said that he had only the kindest feelings toward organized labor but he felt that in this case a small minority of fanatics were controlling the large majority of honest, well meaning workmen. "The Rumford mill" said he "is the only one where violence has been shown and damage done to the company's property. The mill has been entered by certain parties who damaged one of the paper machines to the extent of $1,000. Stearns has been thrown at the mill and one night recently the are lights used for lighting the grounds outside the mill were smashed."

After further discussion of the situation the business men unanimously voted to advise the managers of the village corporation to provide all the police protection necessary for the preservation of law and order when the mill should be opened.

TWENTY-FOURTH ANNUAL EXHIBITION

Of The Oxford North Agricultural Society At Andover.

Large Crowds.—Premiums Awarded.

Thursday evening the Oxford North Agricultural Society closed its gates after having given its twenty-fourth annual exhibition which was as usual a success. The fair opened Wednesday and had the usual "first day" crowd which was rather small. Thursday was the big day and the people commenced to come early in the morning. At a little past noon it was estimated that there were about 1,200 persons on the grounds. Some came in autos, a great many in teams and others on foot.

One of the principle features at the Andover fair is seeing the people and there were many expected reactions of old friends who had not seen each other for many years. Handshakes and greetings were seen on every side and comments on the exhibition were frequently heard. With the exception of a few drinks the crowd was an orderly one and there was comparatively no trouble. The grounds were patrolled by Day, the Portina of Mexico, and a "Coke of Bryant's Pond."

The Andover Band was on the grounds each day and furnished music. A disappointing feature of the fair was the lack of entries for the races so they were necessarily omitted.

The exhibits this year were a variety and the departments were all well filled. The poultry exhibit excelled those of former years.

In The Exhibition Hall.

The hall exhibit this year was especially fine; among the exhibitors were P. A. Furbish of Rumford who showed and had for sale Edison photographs with new attachment playing the four minute records, also the White rotary lock and chain stitch sewing machines.

Mrs. Lena Farnum of West Paris was there with a fine showing of millinery. H. L. Steinfeld & Co. of Rumford had a fine assortment of ladies' coats, sweaters etc. A demonstration

HER EIGHTY-FIRST BIRTHDAY.

On Tuesday, Sept. 29th, Mrs. Ann P. Libby, of Locke Mills celebrated her eighty first birthday in a way that long will be remembered by those who were present.

All of her children were with her, they being Mr. Nelson S. Swift of Locke Mills, Mrs. H. A. Bennett of Weichville, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cullen Swift of Fall River, Mass., Mrs. Elizabeth M. Dermond of Concord, N. H., and Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Walter R. Swift of Locke Mills.

A number of grand children and great grand children and a nephew and his wife were also present, making seventeen in all.

Many other friends and neighbors called during the day to congratulate her upon the occasion.

A beautiful dinner was served followed by refreshments of ice cream and cake.

Special mention should be made of one large frosted cake with the word "Mother" on it, which was placed in front of her at the table and which she cut and gave a piece to all those present.

Many were the gifts she received, consisting of fruits, confectionery, over twenty birthday presents, eighty-one nineteen hundred eight pennies and many other useful presents.

Her many friends sincerely hope that she may live in health to enjoy many more similar birthdays.

EIGHTEENTH EXHIBITION OF THE

Bethel Fair and Cattle Show. Excellent Weather.

Large Crowds are on the Grounds.

Bethel Agricultural Fair opened at Riverside Park Tuesday, Oct. 6th and the weather was certainly in a pleasant mood, for a more pleasant autumn day was never seen. The crowd was small as usual on the first day, but the fairs were there in full force. Among the side shows, two were noticeable and especially good. These were animal shows.

The Florida Animal Zoo of Raymond and Knowlton of Old Orchard is present. They have an alligator which measures 9 1/2 feet in length and weighs 200 lbs. and opens his mouth 27 inches. They also have a rattlesnake 7 feet long with 10 rattles.

Edward Flint of No. Waterford is here with his prize dogs and many other animals.

We should not forget to mention the merry-go-round as it certainly would not seem like a real fair without one.

Wednesday certainly was a record breaker and early in the day crowds began to arrive, some on foot, others in teams and still others by automobile. At noon it certainly looked as though it was one of the largest crowds seen at Riverside Park for several years and still more to come.

STOCK.

A walk by the cattle pens showed some fine looking stock. The Cushman Bros. have 2 pair of steers, one pair being trained so they were driven over the grounds in double harness, also each one in single harness and they certainly appeared to understand what was wanted of them. Mrs. Bean of West Bethel has six very slick looking Hereford cows, M. L. Thurston has 2 large yoke of oxen, 1 pair Herefords and 1 pair Holsteins. A. Merrill has 4 pair of steers and 1 yoke Hereford oxen. Mr. Tucker York has one pair Hereford oxen, John Westfield has 6 head cattle, Myron Merrill 3 pair Durham steers, C. E. Valentine exhibits 5 head of thoroughbred Jerseys. L. Bartlett has one Durham. There are several pair of fine looking work horses, among those noticed were Baker Thurston's, weighing 2,750 lbs. R. K. Morrill of Norway has two pair, Charles Saunders of Hanover one pair and Geo. Stephens of East Waterford one pair.

In the poultry department were noticed several exhibits of geese and ducks by the Cushman Bros. and Howard Hutchins has some Mammoth Pekin ducks, also some R. I. Red chicks. Roy Thurston has White Plymouth Rocks and several pens of doves.

THE HOME CIRCLE.

Pleasant Reveries—A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers
as they Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

Editor's Note.—It is our desire to make this department one of the most interesting and valuable features of the whole paper. To this end we ask the cooperation of our readers. Choice verse and gems of thought will be gladly received. Here are our thanks for anything that our friends have sent or may send.

Happiness.
Happiness is like a crystal
Fair and exquisite and clear,
Broken in a million pieces,
Shattered, scattered far and near.
Now and then, along life's pathway,
Laid some shining fragments fall—
But there are so many pieces
No one ever finds them all.

You may find a bit of beauty,
Or an honest share of wealth,
While another, just beside you,
Gathers honors, love or health.
Vain to choose or grasp untidily,
Broken is the perfect ball—
And there are so many pieces
No one ever finds them all.

Yet the wise, as on their journey,
Treasure every fragment dear,
For there, as they may, together,
Laying ever to be thankful,
Learning ever to be thankful,
Though their share of it is small—
For it has so many pieces
No one ever finds them all.

The Right Side.
By Isaac W. Sanborn.

What if the morning lowers,
And clouds obscure the sun?
The day may yet be clear and bright,
Before the day is done:
Is the right side
Of every work begun.

There is nothing gained by doubting,
And the giving way to fear;
The world's successful workers
Are those who persevere:
Is the right side
'Tis courage gives us cheer!

Let us then be hopeful,
In everything we do;
And whether light or gloom prevails,
To ourselves be true:
The right side
Is the right side,
All our life way through.

Intuition.
Ours do not only realize the amount and the value of the influence they have over others. It does not cease when a girl leaves her home, to enter what is familiarly known as society.
It is but begun. It is in her speculating outside of the home circle, that she becomes in contact with those who are very susceptible to influence, and often to evil than good. How often the watchful eye of a tender mother and the wise counsel of a loving sister are forgotten for the time when a young man is out among those who are susceptible to be, but are not always friends. It is to have that a girl's influence for good is of more value than in any other place.

We often think that if a girl but know how clearly their actions were watched and how often discussed, by the young men with whom they come in contact, they would surely raise the standard of their thoughts and speech to a higher plane of purity. One fit to word, spoken thoughtlessly, or un-careless action may cause some young man to lose faith in the purity and goodness of girlhood.

The girl whom we all love and see as is very careful in her choice of friends. She selects those whose character and example are socially as well as morally. She is kind to all, but her friends are the closest, nobly hearted young men and women. She always gives a kind word to the erring one and strives to help those who fall, back to the better path. One word from the lips of a girl may be of great importance. It may influence for good or evil. Let it be for good, girls. Let us dwell in the corner of girlhood. Let us cherish its purity.
Let us have our words and actions as compensated by the thought "Then I must be good." And let us have for our daily prayer "Let the words of my mouth and the meditations of my heart be acceptable to thy sight, O Lord, my strength and my redeemer."

Then, when we have passed beyond the happy years of girlhood, we can look back with pleasure on the moments and in doing work for the Master as a quiet, unassuming way.

If but few would outside the her,
and extend the circle and goodness
of men's actions and it would show, they would become a high standard of

Mr. Taft calls attention to the fact that, notwithstanding Mr. Bryan's prophetic of eight years ago, we are still celebrating the Fourth of July. And we will continue to observe periodic political obsessions over Bryan as long as he persists in being a candidate.

SENATOR BEVERIDGE ON TAFT.

William H. Taft is of the Pilgrim stuff—his is the wisdom that makes the ideal vision a living fact. Tried in every realm of government, tested in every department of statesmanship, he never yet has failed. He is a skilled seaman.

SENATOR BEVERIDGE ON BRYAN.

Mr. Bryan is an Aaron, but not a Moses; a Henry, but not a Washington; a Wendell Phillips, but not an Abraham Lincoln. He is the storm of unrest which clears the atmosphere, but not the trade winds that carry to port the freighted ships of people's hope.

SECRETARY ROOT ON REFORM.

Let us all put our shoulders to the wheel of reform, but let us not forget that true reform proceeds, not by overturning or destroying in order to substitute the conjectural future of sanguine theory, but always by building steadily and surely on the safe foundations of all that is good in the present.

GOVERNOR HUGHES ON TAFT AS A REFORMER.

It is because of his loyalty to high ideals, because of his broad sympathies and his rare equipment in character, ability and experience, because tested in the difficult fields of judicial and administrative work he has proved his quality by eminent service, because of his varied learning, his acquaintance with affairs, his respect for constitutional government, and his capacity intelligently and justly to plan and direct necessary reforms that I most earnestly support the candidacy of William Howard Taft.

AS TO HILL FARMS IN OXFORD COUNTY.

Wm. H. Porter of Frye who has been reading the discussion in the CITIZEN regarding the cause for farms being made on the hills of Oxford County, when intervals lands were cheap, and more easily cultivated and accessible, says in explanation:

"When this section was first settled corn could not be matured in the low lands; but at that time the thought that hill lands could be made to mature it, had not been conceived.

It happened in 1807 that a fire burned the woods on the hill now known as 'Corn Hill' opposite my farm at Frye.

My grandfather wanting to utilize the burnt land, planted corn there, and to the surprise of all it grew well, and ripened, and he realized a good profit from the planting.

It was much wetter in the valley then than now, and frost was earlier, and land could not be planted so early as now. For some reason frost did not hit the hills so early, and land could be worked earlier in the spring. From that experience I think grew the custom that originated shortly following that of going to the hills to cultivate farms."

ALCOHOL AS A BRAIN STIMULANT.

In writing in the October Magazine of experiments in Germany to test alcohol as a brain stimulant Dr. Henry Smith Williams says:

"The subject would place each hand on a telegraph key, at right angles to the fingers, then by pressing it being understood that one key or the other would be pressed, promptly accordingly as a red or a white light appeared. It became necessary therefore, to recognize the color of the light, and to recall which hand was to be moved at that particular signal; in other words to make a choice not unlike that which a locomotive engineer is required to make when he encounters an unexpected signal light. The tests showed that after the ingestion of a small quantity of alcohol—say a glass of beer—there was a marked disturbance of the mental processes involved in this reaction. On the average, the keys were released more rapidly than before the alcohol was taken, but the wrong key was much more frequently released than under normal circumstances. Speed was attained at the cost of correct judgment. Thus, as Dr. Stier remarks, the experiment shows the elements of two of the most significant and persistent effects of alcohol, namely, the vitiation of mental processes and the increased tendency to hasty or incoordinated movements. Stated otherwise, a leveling-down process is involved, whereby the higher function is dulled, the lower function accentuated.

"Equally suggestive are the results of some experiments devised by Ach and Maljarewski to test the effects of alcohol upon the perception and comprehension of printed symbols. The subject was required to read aloud a continuous series of letters or meaningless syllables or short words, as viewed through a small slit in a revolving cylinder. It was found that after taking a small quantity of alcohol, the subject was noticeably less able to read correctly."

IT HAS BEEN KICKING THAT WAY RIGHT ALONG.

The Hearst editorials are attacking both Taft and Bryan. They are supporting Hissgen whose only known qualification for president is that he has continued to do an oil business in spite of the efforts of the Standard Oil Company to drive him out.

Several men have been elected president with no better known qualification than that, but it is not a safe experiment to try.

The purpose of this article is not to attack or defend any candidate, but to show that the editorial writers for the Hearst papers are hard put for an argument against either Taft or Bryan, that will act to the advantage of Hissgen.

In a recent editorial in the American, the weakness of the bank deposit guaranty plan was shown up in the style that characterizes the utterances of the paper.

The plan in substance, is to have each National bank create a fund that shall be drawn upon to make good the losses of depositors in any bank that fails. The American says it is an unjust and impractical plan.

In order to illustrate, it cites a supposable case, in which the customers of a store guarantee the proprietors against loss, by agreeing to chip in and pay him the amount of bad bills he has on hand at stated intervals.

It is applying the same principle, only it is the people guaranteeing the store (bank) against loss, instead of the store (bank) guaranteeing the people.

We do not defend nor oppose the bank guaranty plan. It may be a good scheme. There is nothing perfect and some principle is sacrificed in nearly all plans for the public welfare. It may be a bad idea, as often good things turn out to be. Some sort of a depositor's guarantee ought to be devised.

But when the editor of the Hearst papers seeks to ridicule the policy, by citing the supposable instance as above described, we wish to say that he has not studied the philosophy of business as now conducted throughout the world carefully; or is using an actual condition for illustration supposing his readers will not know it.

The fact is that that system of guaranty for the merchant has been in vogue, but without the customer's consent for as many years as the credit system has been in vogue. No man enters into business without first reckoning the cost of doing the business; and possible (sure as to average per centage) losses from bad bills are taken account of as a part of the expense.

The prudent merchant sells at a living profit, above the cost. Again we say we are not saying the plan is sound, but it seems necessary under our business system of doing business to not apportioned equally as to banks in favor of the people as it does apportioned under cover, to the people in favor of the store.

The Church.

The people of Rumford have occasion to be proud of the handsome new church edifice dedicated by the Baptist denomination this week. It is one of the finest churches of its size in the State and was erected at the cost of nearly $20,000. The building is modern in every respect and has every device for convenience.

On the main floor there is an auditorium with a capacity of seating 250 persons. With the opening of the rolling partition which separates the main room from the Sunday School rooms the audience room may be increased in size to accommodate 400 persons. The interior is beautifully finished in oak and the stained glass windows add much to the embellishment of the church. The large windows were given by the Y. P. S. C. E. and the Bible School, while the smaller windows are nearly all presented by individuals.

At the right of the pulpit is the baptistry with robing rooms in the rear. Back of the pulpit is the minister's study, an attractive little room which is simply furnished. The organ and choir occupy the westerly corner of the auditorium.

In the basement is found the lecture room which is spacious and capable of seating a large audience. At the rear of this is found the kindergarten department, the fuel and furnace rooms and the kitchen, which has every convenience for serving meals.

During the convention a telephone is installed in the building and places to rest and write are provided for the guests.

THE TYPEWRITER BURGlar.

Francis has a fairly representative selection of burglars and other criminals, but the typewriter burglar is a novelty.

He broke into a flat of an apartment house in Toulouse the other day and left the following letter neatly typewritten on a machine in the room:

"Dear Sir and Colleague—I think by your untidiness that you are not a lady, but untidiness means a busy man. So I congratulate you. I can see that you are a professional typist, like myself, and guessing that you were one I looked into your box of papers for your keys and naturally found them there.

"I have emptied the drawers of your table, out of which I have taken fr. 2.10 (41 cents). This is a low price for an evening's work, but I have also carried off some of your work, which I will study at my leisure.

"Some of your translations are quite good; I do a little of it myself in my spare moments. I am not taking your machine, for you and I know how very nearly impossible it is to sell a second-hand typewriter.

"You will forgive me, my dear colleague, for not signing this letter, and you need not fear a return visit from me. There is nothing worth taking in your rooms."

WORTHY OF FLAG SHE CARRIED.

Historic Incident Participated in by American Warship.

Of the old sloop of war St. Mary's now to be consigned in her sixty-fifth year to the tender mercies of the auction, it is written that she bore no conspicuous part in war in all her long service. This may be true, but the St. Mary's was once associated with an event which is worthy of commemoration. Under the command of the late Capt. Colvocoresses she was the means, 40 or more years ago, of postponing the bombardment of Valparaiso by the Spanish fleet. She was anchored before the city, and the Spanish admiral hinted that she was in the line of fire. Capt. Colvocoresses remarked that he was perfectly satisfied with his berth, and that while the St. Mary's carried but 23 guns, she represented a navy that had 2,300 guns at sea. Valparaiso was eventually bombarded, but not while Capt. Colvocoresses was present. The peculiar name of the ship commemorates an early colonial capital of Maryland. It was given in the same spirit of historical association as was illustrated by the Jamestown and the Plymouth, her sister ships.

Irish Postage.

On a recently received letter were two postage stamps, one the familiar red stamp, the other an unfamiliar stamp of a dull green, both canceled by the post office at which the mislabeled had been mailed. The green stamp carried in the oval a figure in flowing robes discoursing sweet music upon a harp. In the top panel was the legend "Erne," on each of the two side panels was the inscription "Sinn Féin," all the lettering being in the Irish character. The bottom panel displayed a couchant hound. On small shields in the four corners were the heraldic blazons of the kingdoms of Ulster, Munster, Leinster and Connaught. This Irish postage will not carry a letter far unless reinforced by stamps of more solid collateral value, but it serves as a vent for national enthusiasm and contributes a little to the cause.

of the U. S. Cream Separators was given by a representative of that company.

A beautiful collection of Maine gems was shown by A. Dana Barrell of Andover. Burnt wood and hand decorated articles were exhibited by Mrs. Frank M. Bailey and Olney Burgess both of Andover. The collection of canned fruit put up by Mrs. C. M. Newton was particularly noticeable as were the house plants contributed by Mrs. O. G. Damon. Andover grange was the only one to have an exhibit and that was a very fine one.

Among the different articles one of the most interesting was the miniature auto which was manufactured with a jack knife by Allen Elliot.

The Cattle.

A large per cent of the cattle came from Upton there being about twenty-five head from that town. Among these were five fine yokes of oxen and five yokes of steers. Two nice thoroughbred Guernsey bulls were entered by Chas. Cushman and E. S. Poor. S. F. Abbott exhibited a Durham bull and Ray Lohme of Byron a Hereford.

The Baseball Games.

The base ball game between Andover and Dixfield teams on Wednesday was a failure. A dispute arose during the eighth inning and the Dixfield refused to finish the game. The game Thursday between the Andover and Smithville was a ringer with a score of 1 to 0 in favor of the Smithville boys. It was declared by many that the game was the finest ever seen on the grounds. No score was made until the ninth inning when Smithville made the winning point.

Ox Drawing Contests.

In the ox drawing contest for cattle under 7 feet Will Powell of Upton drew the first prize, N. S. Godwin 2nd and F. W. Bartlett 3rd. The load weighed 2051 lbs. and the winning pair drew it over 500 feet. For cattle over 7 feet E. W. Bartlett won with Hanson Lohme and Jonas Amburg 2nd and 3rd. The load weighed 4035 lbs. and it was drawn 260 feet by the Bartlett team. Mr. Amburg's oxen had not been in a neck yoke for over a year so his team did not work to good advantage.

The Fair Ball.

The grand ball on Wednesday evening was as usual largely attended and a great success. Music was furnished by Smith's orchestra of Mexico. An excellent oyster supper was served in the dining hall at intermission.

TAFT AS A SPEAKER.

He Talks to the People Winning Many Votes.

DOESN'T POSE AS AN ORATOR.

Word Pictures Not Needed to State Facts Plainly—Republican Candidate's Clearness and Sincerity Carry Conviction.

From being decidedly apprehensive as to the outcome of Judge Taft's speaking tour, Republican leaders are convinced that one of the wisest moves of the campaign was the decision to let the Republican candidate visit as many sections of the country as possible between now and election day and talk to as many voters as the time will permit. When speaking tours for Taft were first discussed the opponents of the plan based their opposition on the fact that as an orator Taft cannot be compared to Bryan. They argued that Taft, who makes no pretense to oratory, would be placed at a disadvantage appearing on the stump against the gifted Nebraskaan. But Judge Taft himself solved the problem and cleared the whole situation with one sentence in his recent speech at Randolph, O.

"I cannot dwell in the cerebral blue, but have to deal with facts," he declared. "It is in this dealing with facts in a clear, dispassionate manner that has made William Howard Taft what he is, that will cause him to gain strength every time he appears in public. Taft's best friends cannot claim for him that he is an orator. But he can tell the truth and does tell it. He will not have to paint beautiful word pictures of what should be done. He will not have to plead with silvery eloquence for the aged downtrodden nor call on 'the masses' to rise up and save the country from the ruin which Bryan has been predicting and finding various pretexts for during the past twelve years."

What Taft has to do is to state facts, clear cut facts, to tell the truth about himself, to give to his auditors a clear and unmistakable idea of what Taft the man is and what he stands for. And this he can do, and do well. By nature he is frank and open. It would be difficult for him to dissemble. He would like to do so.

Already Taft has begun making serious impressions on his auditors. Bryan is never able to tickle his auditors. In most instances he arouses enthusiasm, but it is an enthusiasm which only lasts. Those who listen and applaud go away and forget. With the Taft audiences it is different. By the clearness of his exposition and the absolute sincerity of his manner he strikes conviction. His auditors are not impressed by two things—Taft's ability and Taft's sincerity.

"That man means what he says," is a comment frequently heard after Taft has spoken. Another Taft characteristic is that he is winning many friends for the Republican candidate among those who know nothing of him before they saw and heard him in his great courtly. He says what he thinks, and says it in such a way that it remains in the minds of those who hear him. At Athens, O., he was addressing 400 union coal miners. He told them about having issued injunctions. "I issued them," he said, "because the rights of the plaintiffs demanded it. When I am on the bench I enforce the law. And I have no apology to make."

For a minute there was absolute silence, dramatic in its intensity. Then the 400 miners broke not merely into applause, but into enthusiastic cheers. After the meeting they were heard exclaiming their views.

"That man is on the level," said one. "He doesn't hand out any 'sour' talk. He knows where he stands and is not afraid to come straight out with a thing. He isn't the orator Bryan is, but he says things that Bryan wouldn't say."

Take many of Bryan's utterances. Taft's utterances will bear inspection. He will make no declaration that is open to doubt. "I have to deal with facts," he said. In some of his speeches Bryan, intoxicated with the sound of his own words, frequently makes statements not entirely trustworthy. Taft has been too long on the stump, too long in high government positions, where his utterances carried weight, to permit of his making careless statements. Furthermore, Taft possesses to a marked degree the ability to discuss the most intricate subjects in the simplest language. He proved this most conclusively at Randolph when he made perfectly plain to an audience the development of anti-trust legislation and the powers and limitations of the federal government. Everybody knew exactly what he was saying about and understood it clearly. There were few in the audience who realized that he was discussing obscure legal problems without resorting to bewildering legal phraseology.

As far as personal magnetism goes, Taft and Bryan are nearly equal. But where Bryan's personality is one that excites interest and enthusiasm Taft's is one that inspires affection and trust. "That man has a fine face," would trust him anywhere," said a West Virginia woman who with a large party came over the mountains to hear Taft speak at West Springs. "The man who met him first that he is only sincere, but that he possesses the ability and courage to handle most of the many problems that confront a president. It is the knowledge of all that makes the Taft managers confident that he is the man to lead the country."

EAST DIXFIELD.

The people of Dixfield Hill were agreeably surprised when they learned of the marriage of Walter H. Smith and Miss Elva M. Bangs of Phillips on Sept. 9. Although Walter had repeatedly told them that he intended to assume the matrimonial yoke on that date, yet none would believe him. True to his word they were married in Phillips at high noon on that date. The next train carried the happy pair to Portland where they spent a few days night seeing and visiting relatives of the bride. They are now "at home" at W. E. Smith's the father of the groom.

"An old adage 'That good things never come singly' has again been proven true, for another wave of excitement passed over the place when the announcement came of the wedding at Greene, Sept. 20, of Lena A. Smith and Mr. Allen Curtis of Monmouth. The bride couple took a short trip to Portland and Boston. The bride is spending a few days with her parents. They will soon go to Presque Isle where he will continue his work as decorator and painter. We feel to congratulate Warren on his unusual good luck in gaining a daughter to take the place of the one he lost."

REASON FOR CONVERSION.

Why the Baltimore Sun Decided to Support Taft.

[From the Baltimore Sun, Dec.]

It is our deliberate judgment that for the next four years the national interest of the people of this country would be safer with Mr. Taft at the head of the national government than with Mr. Bryan.

THE SLEEPING SICKNESS WHICH MEANS DEATH

How many readers have heard of this terrible disease? It prevails in that far-away country—Africa—especially the Congo district. It is caused by the bite of the tsetse fly. When it bites a person, the sleeping symptoms begin and finally the sufferer sleeps until death occurs.

Contrast this with the peaceful, balmy sleep of health. Is there anything more wearing than to lie awake at night, tossing about, nervous, with cold feet, hot head and merry knows what else? Short of letting the tsetse fly bite us we would do almost anything for relief. How can we prevent it? Mr. George Hayes, of Union City, Pa., writes: "I had lost my appetite, was all run-down, could not sleep nights. I had tried everything without relief. Vinol was recommended, and to my surprise, it helped me at once; gave me a splendid appetite, and now I sleep soundly."

What Vinol did for Mr. Hayes, it will do for every run-down, nervous and overworked person who cannot sleep.

VINOL is sold in bottles by W. E. Bossmann, Druggist.

"BRYAN CAN DO NO HARM."

A Frequent Statement That Will Not Bear Analysis.

The apologetic Democrat who wants to remain regular and who has swallowed Bryanism takes care to repeat as often as he is accused of inconsistency that Mr. Bryan can do no harm even if he is elected. It is time that this statement was met and smashed. Mr. Bryan if elected could and would do a great deal of harm in so many ways that it is almost impossible to enumerate them. In the first place, he would have an opportunity during his term to pack the supreme court, and no one doubts that he would so pack it that the confidence of the American people in the greatest institution would be lost or severely shattered.

Mr. Bryan would appoint a cabinet from his friends and not from his enemies, and it must be admitted that the best men in the Democratic party are not close friends of Mr. Bryan. He would appoint judges and district attorneys throughout the country who would carry out his designs as far as possible, but the greatest harm of all that could come upon the people through the election of Mr. Bryan would be the loss of confidence in business circles and the probable stagnation that would come over the country and remain for four years at least.

There is no measuring this light that would come to our nation through the election of William J. Bryan. We entered it from 1860 to 1860 under a Democratic president of far sounder views and much more stable character than the present Democratic candidate for president. Mr. Bryan as a weather vane would be a great success, but as a president he would not only be a failure, but failures would come to every American institution and every American industrial center.

A "twist for revenue only" means a general reduction of wages. There is no possible alternative.

WITH MR. BRYAN. We further believe that while lawbreakers would be brought to account by Mr. Taft with as little fear or favor as Mr. Bryan could display, the methods employed by Mr. Taft would not curtail the workingman's opportunities for employment by disturbing the business of law abiding men and corporations as has been witnessed in the last few years.

Mr. Taft's experience in important administrative posts, his judicial temperament, his patience and thoroughness in investigation, justify the belief that as president he would execute the law faithfully and well, but not spectacularly. And, while this type of man ought to be in the White House all the time, he seems to be especially needed now, when the country is emerging from an industrial and financial depression which brought distress and suffering into many homes.

No weather vane for president. Our chief magistrate should have settled views, sound principles and honest methods.

Imagine it!

In commenting on the appeal made by Mr. Bryan to the farmers asking them to contribute to his campaign fund and to send their contributions to his personal newspaper office the New York Sun caustically asks its readers to imagine if they can "James Buchanan or Stephen A. Douglas or John C. Breckinridge or General McClellan or Horatio Seymour or General Hancock or any other Democratic candidate for the presidency save and except William Jennings Bryan demanding money from the farmers of the United States in order to put him in the White House?"
